The government knew this. And my opinion is that this tax was deliberately put so high that the Zulu would be quite unable to pay it, working under ordinary agricultural conditing under ordinary agricultural conditions.

The reason for this lay close at hand. The gold mines—the curse of bauth Africa—neede; labor. The mine campaign is that has occurred has simply been self-defense on the part of the natives. And the rest of the campaign is that 3,000 natives have been moved down, while the British campaign down, while the British campaign above. They know that the natives would not work for the lages, looted our entite destroyed our slave warres paid the Chinese, and crops and burned our churches. Their consequently they devised some plan and is attained. The native can now to induce the natives to work whether do nothing but go and work in the noy like or not.
